

Introducing Newline Workspace

The Future of Real-Time Collaboration

Collaboration will never be the same again. Newline Workspace is more than a whiteboard - it brings together video chat and document editing in real-time across multiple locations. Hosted in the cloud, Workspace connects your team together to take notes, make instant changes to your documents, and call each other for a face-to-face working experience, no matter where the rest of your team is.

All the Tools of a Whiteboard

Anything you can do on a whiteboard, you can do in Workspace. It includes all pen tools and the ability to add shapes, typed text, and even photos.

Edit Your Documents in Real Time

Import your Microsoft Office files and more right into Newline Workspace. Make changes right in your documents that will be reflected on every screen in the meeting.

Completely Cloud-Based

Newline Workspace exists purely on the cloud, so remote team members can easily hop into the meeting and interact with everyone in real-time.

Video Chat with Your Team

Work with your team face-to-face with Workspace's video calling feature. Collaborate better together by hearing your team's suggestions while taking notes.
